

LOCKHART RIVER ABORIGINAL SHIRE COUNCIL

Lockhart River is a picturesque Aboriginal community located on the east coast of Cape York in Far North Queensland. It is about 800 km north of Cairns by road, has a population of about 800 people and is enveloped by rainforest, rolling mountain ranges and pristine beaches. Great fishing, close proximity to the world heritage listed Great Barrier Reef, World War Two relics and other attractions make it a place people want to experience.

Justice Coordinator

Community justice group activities provide for early interventions as an alternative to direct contact with the formal justice system in cases of offending behaviour. The justice groups are not merely centres for disciplining offenders but provide group-based assistance and support for individuals. There is an emphasis upon setting people on the right track, instilling Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander and community values, providing positive reinforcement, sorting out problems and encouraging people to be accountable to the community for their actions.

Key Criteria

- Demonstrated conflict resolution and facilitation of culturally appropriate mediation processes between individuals and family relations
- Demonstrated coordination and management of community justice based programs
- Ability to coordinate, work with and facilitate a group of people to take action on key community-justice issues
- Demonstrated high level communication skills (written and verbal), honesty, reliability, personal integrity and ethics of management practice
- Demonstrated experience in development and implementation of policy and procedures.

Essential position requirements

- Experience in working with Indigenous people and communities
- Ability to live in a remote community
- Experience in the justice system
- Demonstrated computer skills
